

Chapter Four: Snake in My Garden

Discussion Questions

Think about the following questions. Discuss them with your friends, family, and/or small group:

1. Refer to the characteristics of Adam and Eve's relationship outlines on page 94. Which characteristic do you find the most appealing? Why?
2. In what way did the first male-female relationship put God on display? Why do you think Satan wanted to destroy God's design?
3. What do you think Eve found compelling about Satan's sales pitch? (See page 98.) Describe a situation where you were tempted to view sin as harmless, attractive, and promising.
4. What's the problem with having an "I'll do it my way" attitude? What ideas about God does this type of attitude reveal?
5. Identify some subtle lies about womanhood that Satan commonly pitches to women. Are you guilty of listening, dwelling, believing, and/or acting on any of these lies? Do you blame circumstances or people for your poor choices? Do you blame men?
6. What's the difference between independence and interdependence? Why does culture encourage woman to assert her independence from man? How does this impact male-female relationships?
7. Have you ever fallen for Satan's sales pitch? Describe how there is/has been a "snake in your garden" with regard to your womanhood.
